

FESTIVE SEASON ORDERS ARE COMING.

Your dispatch already keeps up.
What if it got even simpler?

Festive orders don't wait for anyone.

Swipe to see where the rush usually breaks.

More orders. Same team. Same system?

Cashew, sweets and gifting orders pile up before the festive season, and the rush tends to crack in four places.

HERE'S WHERE ↓

1 Orders

2 Stock

3 Paperwork

4 Dispatch

Orders buried in multiple places?

One gets lost in the scroll,
and you hear about it when the customer calls.

What if every order, from every channel,
landed in one place?

✓ No order missed · ✓ No festive sale lost

Ran out of your best-seller mid-rush?

In peak season, stock moves faster than anyone can count.

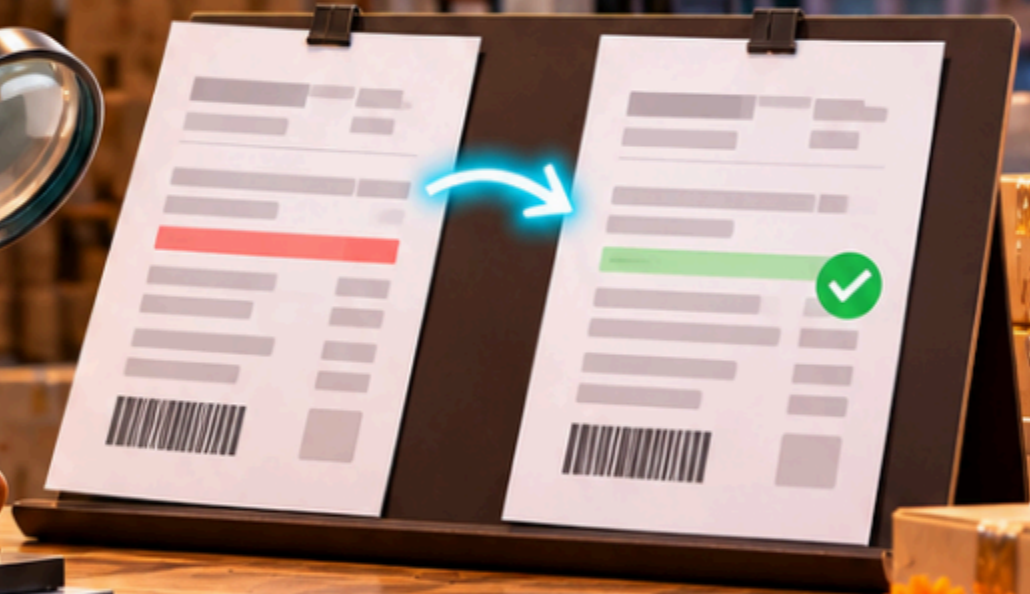

How about a reorder drafted before it runs low,
waiting for your OK?

✓ Stock that keeps up · ✓ No sales turned away

Invoices and e-way bills stacking up?

One wrong detail can hold a consignment back.

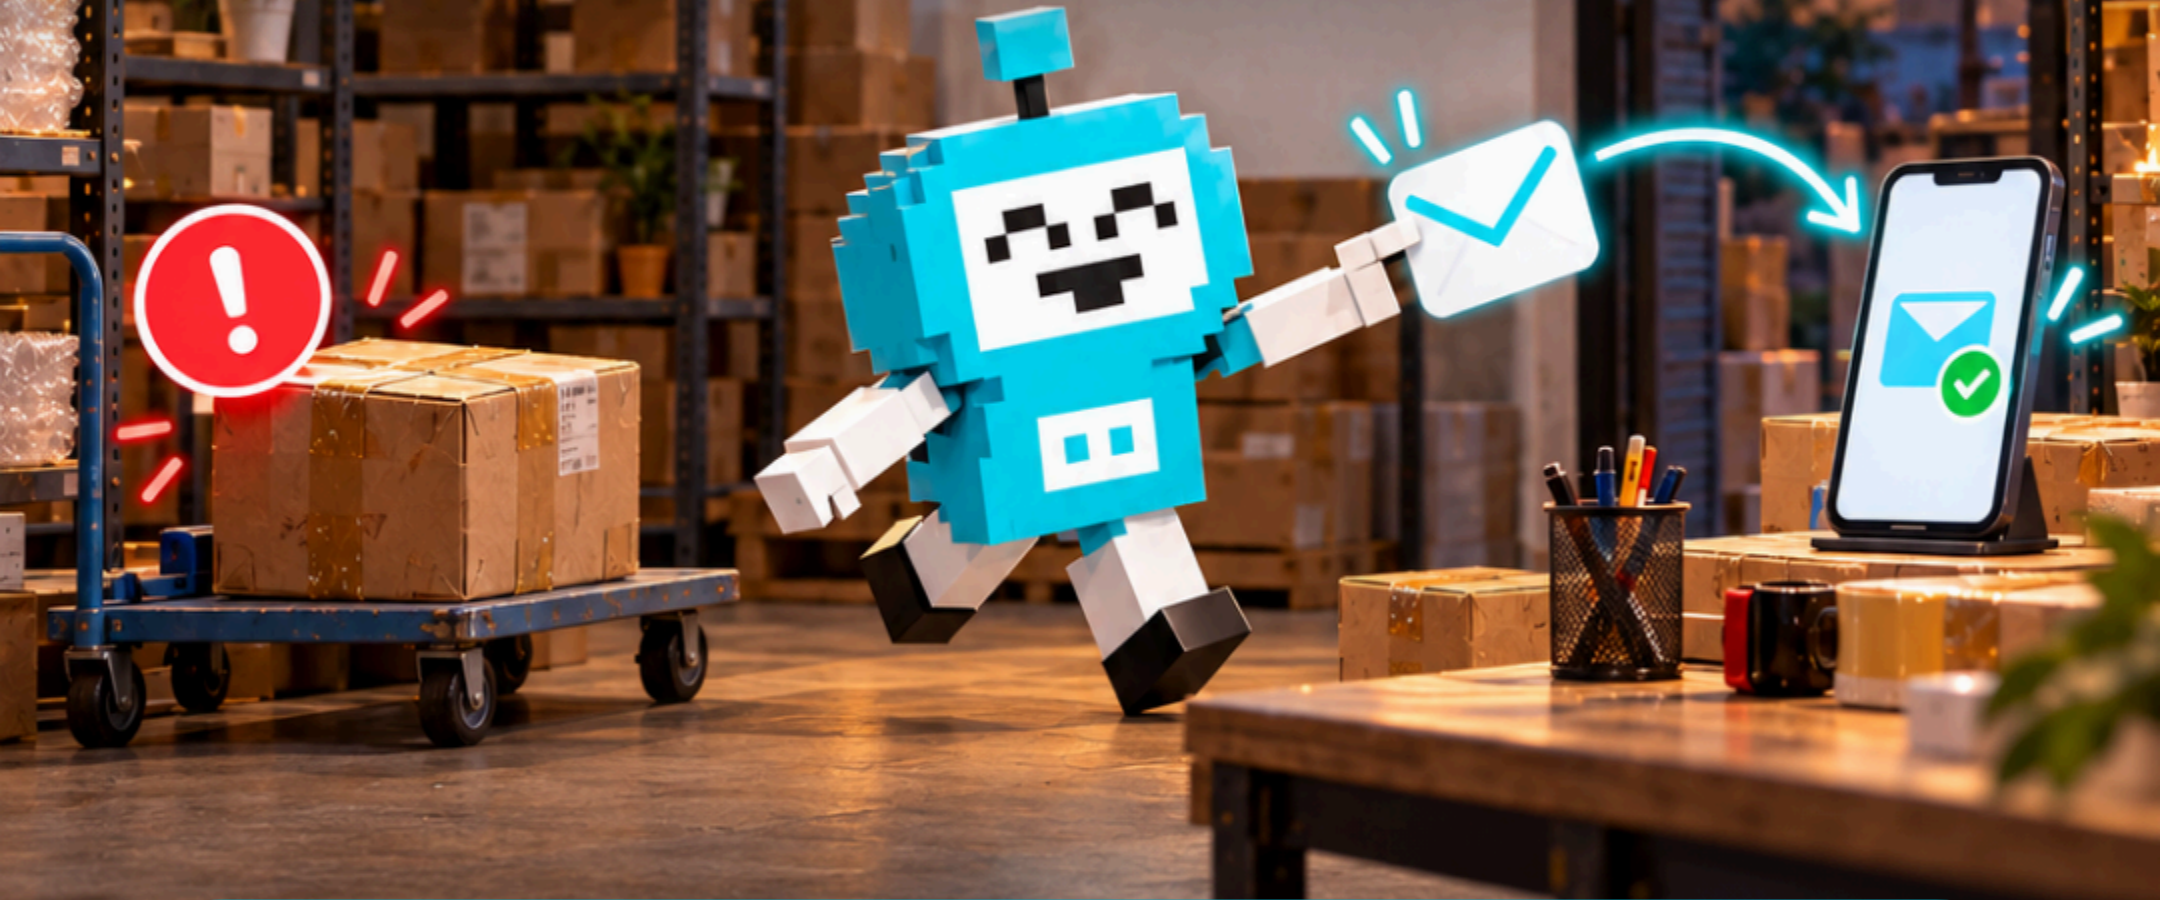

What if every document was checked against the order before the goods left?

✓ Fewer errors · ✓ Goods leave on time

"Where's my order?" calls piling up?

In festive season, a late delivery can cost you a customer for the year.

Imagine delays flagged the moment they happen,
and customers updated before they ask.

✓ Fewer calls · ✓ Customers who come back

Your business already runs the rush like clockwork. What if it took even less effort?

That's where ART (A Realtime Tech) comes in.
